SPINE & PAIN CENTER OF SAN ANTONIO IS ACQUIRED BY PAIN DOCTOR

BOSTON, MA – Spine & Pain Center of San Antonio (SPCSA) has been acquired by Pain Doctor, a portfolio company of Catterton Partners. Spine & Pain Center of San Antonio is an interventional pain management (IPM) physician group practice dedicated to improving its patients’ quality of life by directly treating pain and improving spine movement and functions. Provident Healthcare Partners served as exclusive financial advisor to SPCSA. The terms of the transaction were not disclosed.

“SPCSA has established a dominant presence within the greater San Antonio area. Through this partnership with Pain Doctor and Catterton, SPCSA is well-positioned for further growth in this market and the surrounding area. SPCSA will serve as a beachhead in Texas for Pain Doctor and Catterton, which they will leverage as a platform to further expand throughout the state,” commented Steve Aguiar, Director at Provident Healthcare Partners.

About Spine & Pain Center of San Antonio

SPCSA currently provides a comprehensive spectrum of treatment options, including clinical evaluation visits and minimally invasive injection treatments, which are supplemented by a range of complementary ancillary services. These ancillary services include durable medical equipment (such as back braces, knee braces, wrist splints, etc.), a highly complex lab for urine drug analysis, and multiple community (Class A) pharmacies with compounding services.
