Provident Healthcare Partners Advises Blair Gastroenterology Associates in its Partnership with US Digestive Health

Provident Healthcare Partners (“Provident”), a leading healthcare investment banking firm, announced it has advised Blair Gastroenterology Associates (“BGA”) in its partnership with US Digestive Health (“USDH”), backed by Amulet Capital. BGA’s seven physicians and 14 APPs provide a full range of gastroenterology services through its two office locations and surgery center in central Pennsylvania.

Provident’s deal team was led by Managing Director Eric Major and Director Dustin Thompson. McNees Wallace & Nurick served as legal counsel to Blair Gastro and Sheppard Mullin served as legal counsel to USDH. The terms of the transaction were not disclosed.

“We are thrilled to partner with USDH, the leading GI practice in the Northeast and one of the largest in the country. With the current pressures facing independent medical practices, we wanted to strategically align with a group that shared our vision of focusing on patient care while continuing to innovate and grow. To accomplish such an important transaction, we relied on the expertise of Provident. With their guidance, we were able to navigate through the complex process required to complete a partnership of this size. Provident’s team saw our vision and was steadfast in ensuring that we found the right partner and were well educated throughout the entire process. Provident’s expertise was obvious from the onset. We can confidently say that this partnership would not have been possible without their guidance,” stated Dr. Mitul Patel, Physician Partner at Blair Gastroenterology Associates.

“We are excited to have guided BGA in its strategic alignment with USDH. Both organizations share a dedication to quality patient care and outcomes, and we look forward to seeing the group’s continued expansion in Central Pennsylvania,” stated Thompson.
