Provident Healthcare Partners Advises Florida Eye Specialists & Cataract Institute in its Partnership with Sight360

Provident Healthcare Partners (“Provident”), a leading healthcare investment banking firm, announced it has advised Florida Eye Specialists & Cataract Institute (“FESCI”) in its partnership with Sight360, a portfolio company of SBJ Capital. FESCI is a vertically integrated ophthalmology and optometry practice with 10 locations and 33 physicians in the greater Tampa Bay area.

Provident’s deal team was led by Managing Director, Kevin Palamara, and Vice President, Steven Grassa.

“The transaction process was much more complex than we ever thought it would be. It was a game-changer to have the team from Provident with us from start to finish. They were incredibly knowledgeable, organized, and acted as true professionals. I can't imagine trying to navigate this process without them,” commented Chris Hill, CEO at FESCI.

“Congratulations to Dr. Henderson, Chris and the entire team at FESCI. While the group had many options to consider in this process, the combination of bringing together the two largest and most reputable practices in the Greater Tampa market was ultimately the best strategic option and one that will create the greatest value for all shareholders,” noted Palamara.

“It was a pleasure representing Dr. Henderson and his team in their strategic partnership with Sight360. The two organizations have strong cultural alignment and very complementary businesses that will lead to continued success in the Tampa market for the entire enterprise. We’re excited to follow the organization’s continued growth in western Florida, and beyond,” added Steven Grassa, Vice President at Provident Healthcare Partners.
